Washington, Jan. 7.—Mr. Jones presented a memorial from one William J. Moore, who states that he was a member of the Packard legislature, and that he received a bribe of $5,000 for his vote for of the Packard legislature, and that he received a bribe of $5,000 for his vote for Kellogg as United States senator from Louislans—Mr. Cameron said this witness was examined before the committee which went to New Orleans, and declared most emphatically that he knew of no wrong committed in the election to which he now refers—Mr. Logan said he would like to know when, if ever, there would be an end of this case. It seemed strange to him that for the purpose of reopening that case the petition of a person declaring that he was a villain and a secoundrel and asking to be examined should be used—Mr. Kellogg said this man Moore had been dismissed from the New Orleans custom house for stealing or an attempt to embezzle: that he had threatened to come to Washington and lay a memorial Defore the senate—Mr. Hill, of Georgia, said it would take much to induce him to re-open the case, but this was a very singular paper. When the witness was before the committee he was regarded as one of the most respectable of Kellogg's witnesses, in which he had held a position in the custom house—Bills introduced and referred: Mr. Ferry, to promote the efficiency of the life saving service and encourage the saving of life from shipwreek. Mr. Burnside, to authorize the retirement of Brevet Maj-Gen. Wm. A. Averill, U. S. A., with the rank and pay of brigadier general; referred.

Mr. Voorhees asked to have printed and recommitted a bill authorizing the construction of a building for a congressional library. So ordered-Bills introduced: library. So ordered—Bills Introduced:
Mr. Logan, to authorize the appointment of Gen. Grant on the retired list. Mr. liayard, to provide for the distribution of unciaimed dividends among the creditors of the national banks. Mr. Logan, to extend the franking privilege to all official business sent through the mails by senators, representatives, and delegates in congress. Mr. Pendleton, to regulate and improve the civil service; also, to prevent gress. Mr. Pendleton, to regulate and improve the civil service: also, to prevent extortion from persons in the public service; and bribes and corruption by such persons—referred—Mr. Hoar submitted a resolution that the committee on printing consider the propriety of furnishing to the state library of each state copies of all bills, resolutions and other documents and other papers printed for the use of each house—agreed to.

Washington, Jan. 11.-The senate took the bill for the relief of Ben Holliday. MePherson opposed it. He thought it ought to be amended so as to embrace other than actual damages-The district tramp act was taken ap, discussed and laid aside without action—Mr. Slater introduced a bill to reduce the price of the even numbered sections of public lands within the limits of any railroad, military or wagon road grant, to pre-emption setters, to $1.75 per acre—Mr. Bayard, from the committee on finance reported favorably the house bill to amend a section of the revised statutes, so as to authorize a charge for smelting and refining bullion when at or above the standard.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 12.-In the senate Mr. Davis, of West Virginia, submitted a resolution instructing the committee on finances to inquire into the advisability of a change in the organization of the treasua change in the organization of the treasury and other departments, so as to divide the accounts, etc. Tabled and ordered printed—Mr. Logan called up the joint resolution extending the franking privilege to all official business sent through the mails by senators, representatives and delegates in congress, and in all other respects to be under the limitation of existspects to be under the limitation of exist-ing laws. He said that under the present law, while department clerks could frank official business, this privilege was denied to members of congress. A discussion fol-lowed upon the expedience of restoring the franking system, in which the abuses which caused its abolition were referred to.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7 .- Mr. Springer offered a resolution calling on the secretary of state for all the information in the state department in reference to the Halifax fishery award of $5,500,000 to be paid by this government to Great Brtain, and especially that relating to alleged fictitious statistics and perjured testimony Imposed on the arbitrators and on which evidence the award was made, also whether the government has taken any steps to secure a verification of the recently published statement of Prof. Hild—Mr. Newberry charged that fraudulent testimony and ala verification of the recently published statement of Prof. Hild—Mr. Newberry charged that fraudulent testimony and altered official documents had been brought before the commission; that such alterations and false testimony were made designedly and continuously by authorized agents of the British government. He believed that the party in power in England at the present time had no hand in this crime; that it felt keenly the disgrace brought upon its government, and that it would willingly reopen the whole question—Mr. Hawley said the United States government and the British government had submitted a grave question to international arbitration to the eternal honor of both peoples. The award i al been made against Great Britain at Geneva, and it had paid it like a man. The Canadian fishery award had been made against the United States government and it had paid it like a man. He had not a shalow of a doubt that the British government vould, if it found that fraud had been committed, ask that the question should be reopened—Mr. Springer's resolution was then referred to the committee of foreign affairs and the subject dropped—The following bills were passed: To confirm the title to certain lands in the state of Ohio, and the senate bill for the relief of the Winnebago Indians in Wisconsin:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—The house went into committee of the whole on the fund-ing bill, which was read by sections for into committee of the whole on the funding bill, which was read by sections for amendments—Mr. Wood, from the committee on ways and means, offered an amendment fixing the rate of interest on bonds and notes authorized to be issued by this act at 3 per cent, it being 3½ per cent in the printed bill—Mr. Newberry offered an amendment striking out so much of the bill as authorized the issue of bonds and notes and inserting the following: "The secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized to issue bonds not to exceed $450,000,000, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after ten years, and payable thirty years after date of issue; also, notes in amount of $250,000, redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after two years, and payable in ten years after date of issue, which notes it shall be lawful, and national bank notes shall be permitted, to hold as part of their legal reserves, and interest on said notes 3.73 per cent."—After considerable discussion the committee on Indian affairs, reported a bill which appropriates $4.526,000.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Bills introduced

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Bills introduced in the house: Mr. Price, declaring the silver certificates to possess the same legal tender qualities as the coin for which they were issued. Mr. Carpenter, proposing a constitutional amoudment providing that all civil officers of the United States, except judges of the supreme and inferior courts, heads of departments and officers whose duties are temporary, shall hold office for the term of four years, and that congress may provide for the election by the people of postmasters and other officers whose duties are to be performed within the limit of any state, and officers to be subject to removal by the president on other than political or religious grounds. Mr. Willis, to prevent extortion from persons in the public service. Mr. Buckner requesting the president to open negotiations with Mexico or Central American states for purchase and cession to the United States of territory for the voluntary colonization of the colorea population of the United States. Mr. Stone, authorizing the postmaster-general to select and purchase a site for the postoffice in Washington. Mr. Geddes, to relieve the superior court and to establish a superior court of the United States.—The only important bill reported under a call of the committees was the Indian appropriation bill, which was referred to the committee of the whole, and the house then went into committee on that bill.

repeat the tax on disposits. Car. Weaver, of lows, argued that it would be idle to say a 3 per cent bond could not be floated. He was opposed to a long time 2 per cent bond. Mr. McMillen, of Tennessee, advocated the amendment to tax bonds. Mr. Frye, of Maine, after a few remarks, said he would vote for a 3% per cent bond. After further discussion, Mr. Randall moved to strike out so much of the section as to make the bonds redeemable in forty years. After further discussion, the committee rose, and the house adjourned.

case of recovery after apparent death is recounted by a Swedish news paper. A landed proprietor in the neighborhood of Christiania recently died, after a short illness. His body had been laid in the coffin, the lid of which, however, was not screwed down, in a room where some firewood hap-pened to be kept. The evening of the same day the widow sent her daughter, a child ten years old, into the room to get some firewood, and as the child was hastily gathering the wood she heard her name called in a low voice. She her name called in a low voice. She sprang down stairs in alarm, and several persons hurried up to the room to find the supposed dead man in perfect possession of his senses, and apparently quite well, although dreadfully shocked at finding himself in a coffin. He described his sensations on recovering consciousness as those of an awakening consciousness as those of an awakening from a pleasant and refreshing sleep.

Traveling Etiquette. The fashionable girl now lays her head on the shoulder of her male companion when traveling, according to a Cincinnati Enquirer writer, who says: "The nicest girls do it, and they are so demure, so innocent, so unconscious in their manner that nobody could deem the practice harmful. They have the unconcerned air of using a pillow. This would have been reprehensible a year ago; now fashion and mothers permit it. But the man must not so far forget himself as to slyly hug the girl. If he does, she pops bolt upright, and will lean to him no more forever. That is new but approved etiquette."
